

This small book I have compiled from many records that I have collected showing the many variants of our name, These records concern my own family which has been associated with Yorkshire, mainly York and the East Riding for several hundred years, with Perhaps some descent from Vaux's of Cumberland or of Flemish origin which inflow commenced very soon after the Norman conquest and later the troubled times of reformation era. For instance it has been record that there were vast hordes of Elemish mercenaries used by the crown at the Battle of the Standard.

From the Huguenot Society of London records there are many entries for Norwich & Canterbury such as Vaux, Vose, Vos, Vaucy, Vaws, Vawse, Vause, Voyce. To date I have not been able to obtain any records of Flemish immigrations to the Port of Kingston on Hull. Research on other districts has yet to be done , Leeds, Pontefract, Doncaster, Lincolnshire, Notts., County, The Midlands, The South, & South West of Britain.

Years ago I thought the name could have been of Scandinavian origin with the OA of VOASE but that has been eliminated. Ernest Weekley in his 'Surnames' records that VOCE', VOSE, VOICE, VOASE, derives from the French VAUX' Plural for valley, and from the Latin de VALLIBUS being the dative & ablative plural of VALLIS a valley, Another source gives VOAS, VOCE, VOSE as being a teutonic anglicised form of Dutch & Low GERMAN VOS (Fox), low GERMAN Fos, high GERMAN FUCHS, and old High GERMAN VUHS.

Abstract of a report from the College of Arms London dated 18-10-1967.

A search has been made in the records of the college for all entries in the name of Voase.

There is, it appears, only one entry, that being a royal licence dated 30-12-1859 authorising James Ringrose of Cottingham Co., York, merchant and Fanny Voase Elizabeth Ringrose his wife, maternal niece of William Voase of Anlaby House, Kingston-upon-Hull to take the name of Voase in lieu of that of Ringrose.

There is no reference to Armorial Bearings in terms of the Royal licence, neither is there any mention found of Voase Arms elsewhere in the records, It is of interest however That Burk's General armory and Papworth's Ordinary both give Arms blazoned by the client as being those of Voase of Anlaby House, Though both sources are of course completely unofficial.

The family of Ringrose - Voase resided at Anlaby House until 1919. To day Anlaby House accommodates the offices of Anlaby Rural District Council.

APPLETON le STREET, - four miles from Malton on the old Roman road leading to Hovingham. From the Parish Registers there is one entry of Vaux.
William Vaux bachelor and Margaret Goodrich spinster married by banns 29.10,1727

AUGHTON - an old village eleven miles north of Howden where the River Derwent floods its meadows, Has a old Norman Church with the earliest record in the Registers of our name as spelt Voase. At the castle home of the Aske's, lived Sir Robert Aske who with many others challenged Thomas Cromwell and Henry V111 who were desecrating church property which eventually led to the rebellion known as the Pilgrimage of Grace 1536, Robert Aske led his contingent up to London met the king who treated him well and promised that no more monasteries should be closed, on these conditions Aske returned to the north, but nothing happened thus rebellion broke out again. Leaders were arrested their followers crushed, and men were hanged in hundreds from trees in Yorkshire lanes. Robert Aske was executed with the rest, drawn on a hurdle to York castle and hanged in chains.

Whincopp vicar of Holy Trinity Hull, she was baptised at Beverley Minster 20.9.1598 and her first husband was Mr. W. Smeaton who died 1626 the Mayors clerk. After John Vaux died Thomasine married as her third husband, John Penrose of York who was buried at Holy Trinity Goodramgate 19.10.1654 where she was later buried. John Vaux was a prominent Puritan in York, he was so extrem against drunkards that whosoever he took within his power either better or worse paid either a fine of 5s.2d. or else were carried to the stocks. It is also said - this year the Lord Mayor & all the Aldermen received the communion at the Minster which no man living would testify to the like before (1637) was the year John Vaux was Lord Mayor of York. Alderman Vaux caused a soldier to be arrested by a warrant & so was later abused by Cavalier persons. At York 17.6.1642 Monday at 10 o'clock some 60 soldiers of Sir Robert Stricklands Regiment with divers Caviliers came violently & outrageously to Alderman's Vaux house broke all his windows pulled up his two great posts at the door carried them away to burn in their Court of Guard & would needs have had the Alderman to have torne him.

The family of Vaux or de Vallibus was of Norman extraction & derived its name from a Lordship near Falaise in Normandy, representatives held: lands in Norfolk, Suffolk & Essex at the time of Doomsday Harold de Vaux came to England 1066 with his three sons who are recorded on the Roll of Battle Abbey. the first son Hubert was Lord of Gillesland Co. Cumberland & his line terminated with the marriage of his daughter & heiress Maude to Thos.de Moulton with the Barony passing by marriage of another hairess to Lord Dacre.The tomb of Lord Dacre in Saxton Churchyard Yorkshire who was killed at the Battle of Towton 1461 with the Dacre arms has the Vaux arms as one of the quarterings. Gillesland devolved to the Howards about the same time as Hinderkelf

Castle (Castle Howard) came to Lord William Howard, Later a Colonel Howard was made Lord Gillesland by 1657 Cromwell.The second son Ranulf Lord of Triermain Co.Cumberland was the ancestor in a remote female descnt of Lord Brougham & Vaux. The third son Robert was the forebear of Oliver whose later decendants on a remote female line are todays Baron Vaux of Harrowden with a family of name of Gilbey A cadet branch was established in Scotland by John Vaux Who is reputed to have obtained the lands of Barnbarroch in Wigtonshire

1384, A certain Andrew Vaus of Galloway fought at Poitiers on the French side 1356. Through a misspelling that may have occurred towards the end of the Tudor period the surname became Vans - Sir John Vans of Barnbrroch M.P. 1617 - 21. Later a John Vans 1747 through a marriage assumed the name of Agnew.
